These, besides his extensive library of legal and mercantile works, and full account of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay

there, are here saved inventors.

TERRITORIAL ACQUISITIONS.

In the intercepted letter of P. J. Ross, to which we have already alluded, it appears that he endeavored to persuade the Spanish Secretary that these northern States were equally guilty with the southern in former attempts against Cuba. The emissary admitted that our slave States covet the island, desiring to carve from it three new States to secure preponderance of the slave power at Washington. But he argued that the north was in complicity also in order to secure a more gainful trade with Cuba.

In reply to the Spaniard's reminder that all the invading expeditions came from southern States, Ross declared no repetition of such forays need be apprehended from the new confederacy, since the motive would cease, and the common interest in slavery would undoubtedly secure a perfect harmony and render altogether lamb-like the illustering wolf. The Spaniard however, was by no means convinced—or at all events he intimated, with unmistakable distinctness, the purpose of Spain to keep aloof from the confederacy.

The rebel copy was undoubtedly sincere and truthful in his statement of the design and motive which actuated the south in its eager desire, by means fair or foul, to seize upon Cuba. But in attributing to the northern States a similar purpose, springing from commercial avarice, he certainly uttered what he knew to be untrue. A very small portion of our northern people favored the questionable scheme, and nearly all these were of pro slavery school of politicians who sought for sel-render its dominion secure. Mr. Buchanan advocated the scheme, and bluffed the national reputation in the eyes of Christendom by his unscrupulous Ostend manifesto. No act, among all his various misdeeds, called down on his head more universal reprobation from these northern people.

Unquestionably we suffered much in the estimation of a world not over nice in seeking favorable construction where republican America is arraigned. We of the north were held equally guilty with the slave lords and the few allies in the north who did their best. But may we not hope that in the new era which seems dawning upon us we shall be enabled to display to Europe a fairer character and a nobler conduct than was possible when southern politicians controlled our destinies?

The highest triumph of the regenerated republic should be this. It is not enough that we exhibit to Europe a military power which the mightiest monarchies may well respect. We must show them also that justice dwells with power, and that, freed from evil associations, our rulers will learn to respect the rights of other nations while insisting on our own.

Let Cuba remain in possession of Spain until in the course of time, events may render its acquisition easy and peaceful. It is not worth to us, beyond the trade we now enjoy with it, a tithe of the enormous sum which Mr. Buchanan and his southern friends proposed to offer. We certainly have land enough. A fairer and richer territory has never spread beneath the sun under the sway of a single government whilst its ample area and well defined boundaries leave us without an excuse for encroaching on our neighbors.

A Beneficent Treaty.

The treaty for the suppression of the slave trade, made in Washington city by the Hon. W. H. Seward and Lord Lyons, has been duly ratified by the contracting parties. Its faithful execution cannot but subserve the cause of humanity. The leading principle is the mutual right of search in specified limits—a mode of annihilating this horrid traffic which we have frequently advocated.

There is an omission in the treaty which is to be regretted. It is that while the right of search within thirty leagues of Cuba is provided for, Porto Rico is not included. What is to prevent the defeated slaves from landing their human cargo in the latter named island, and by coastwise vessels transferring them to Cuba, which is only a day's sail distant? If the right of search had been amended to thirty leagues of the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, then the treaty would have been irreproachable, and have reflected undivided lustre on the distinguished negotiators, and the enlightened governments of the United States and Great Britain. Cannot this object be attained?—Phil. N. American.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

INTERESTING MEETING.—Yesterday a half past one, there was one of the most interesting meetings at the Second Baptist Church, that could possibly be convened anywhere, and under any circumstances. The scholars, teachers and superintendents of the Sabbath Schools of the several Baptist Churches, Zion Church, and Mill Street Church assembled for the purpose of hearing one of "Father Tillinghast's" indescribable addresses. The lower part of the house was filled with the schools, and the upper part with their well-wishers. The programme as announced was as follows:

Reading appropriate scriptures by Rev. Mr. Girtwood of New Bedford. Invocation by Rev. Dr. Jackson, of this City. Address to children of various ages, from four years to seventy years, by Father Tillinghast. Singing of America by the congregation, and Benediction by Rev. Mr. Adams, of this city. All of this was appropriately and well done, except the singing, which some of the little ones missed. But upon further consideration, that if they had had the singing, they must necessarily have lost one at least, of Father Tillinghast's interesting stories, they concluded that upon the whole they had had a "good time," and hoped the "good Friend" would come again soon.

On the address it is impossible to give any report, simply because no one can report the working of the spirit as manifested in the countenance and action of that good man. But the effect of the speaking can be only for great good. We wish most heartily, that all the parents of this city could hear that address, or one like it, for we suppose it would be utterly impossible for the speaker to repeat. The unsurpassed knowledge of the child, and the modes of its government, and above all the warm, undisguised love which is constantly gushing forth, are the secrets of his power over youthful minds, as well as those of mature years.

The particular point to which he directed the minds of his hearers was, "deal kindly!" And he made a very deep impression upon all who heard him. Even the most thoughtless in the vast audience, we fully believe, received on "impression" which will last to the remotest period of his, and her existence, and restrain from many acts of wickedness, and wickedness; while the more considerate and loving were warmed into fresh resolves of good deeds, these apparently unvarnished, unsophisticated addresses, but in reality, governed by the strictest rules of rhetoric, have an irresistible effect for good upon all who come within reach of their magic, be they young or old, as told the moistened eyes and earnest looks of those present yesterday. We overheard one little prattler-saying in the street—"what a talker that Quaker is! Why I don't believe I heard but once the whole time he was talking, and then I took of my hat because it hurt my head." Could any orator receive greater praise?

In the evening, the Second Baptist Sunday School held their monthly Concert, or attempted to do so. But it was a failure. The children began very well their recitations, but Friend Tillinghast came in and it was of no use after that, they could think of nothing else, but the "good speaker," and we guess he thought mostly about them, for soon one of "Charley's beautiful gold leaf Testaments" was presented to one of the smallest, loveliest, for a good relation, and nothing would do but Father Tillinghast must take the desk, and "talk."

"And 'talk' he did, and when nine o'clock come round, it seemed as though the clock had played false, by gaining at least three quarters of an hour.

The meetings were more than interesting, language is inadequate to correctly describe them. But the good they will accomplish can never be known this side of eternity.

YEARLY MEETING.—The number of friends in council this year we judge from outside appearances, to be larger than usual. Yesterday afternoon, the number of people who visited the Friends Meeting House on Marlborough St., was so large, that after filling that immense building to suffocation, another mass meeting was held outside and addressed by such as felt moved to do.

We hope to-morrow, to give more detailed statements of their proceedings. To-night the annual meeting of the "Alumni of Friends School" takes place at Aquidneck Hall, at which an address will be delivered by Hon. John Stanton Gould of Rodman N. Y., and a Poem by Ex-Mayor Rodman of Providence, of course their will be no spare room.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Sanford Horton Jr., City Clerk of New Bedford, died very suddenly at the residence of his father, Pelham Street House, in this city, on Saturday evening last at 8 o'clock. He came home on business in his usual health a day or two previous, and his death was caused by an internal tumor.

NEW SHOREHAM—Stolen.—On the 1st instant, two Irish boys, living with Mr. George Sheffield, took from the moorage at the beach a boat belonging to Mr. Edward Dickens, and started for parts unknown to the unfortunate owner. As soon as Mr. Dickens learned that his boat had been stolen, he started in pursuit of it, but the most diligent search has proved in vain thus far. The boat was valued at one hundred and fifty dollars, and is said to be all the property Mr. Dickens could call his own.—Narragansett Times.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM MEMPHIS.

News by mail has been received from

Memphis to the 8th inst., inclusive.

It seems that, considering the great revolution

in the government of the people there, matters go on very smoothly. The avalanche of the 8th says the Courts

transact their business without interruption,

and that the city schools are conducted as usual. It has also the following paragraphs:

"We learn that some of the butchers refused on Saturday to take Confederate notes for beef. There has been no order issued to prevent the people passing such money

as they have, but it seems that the butchers have become a law unto themselves" in this respect.

Business has not been resumed yet.—

There are indications, however, that it may be era long. We noticed a few stores opened yesterday, and it is not improbable that others may be before long. Many of the owners of stores have left the city, and

, course, these will continue closed. There is already a retail trade springing up.

The Federal fleet, now lying opposite

Memphis, received a still further addition during Saturday. In the morning the ironclad gunboat Lexington arrived from the Tennessee river, and in the afternoon the Cincinnati, recently injured in the encounter with Jeff Thompson's and Montgomery's fleet.

The river now is quite full of gun-boats, rams, transports, tugs, &c., and presents quite a lively appearance. They attract quite a crowd of ladies and gentlemen to the bluff to witness their movements.

A merchant who happened to be in the Provost Marshal's office yesterday, heard a conversation between that officer and a slaveholder, which may serve a good purpose to communicate. The slaveholder had lost some slaves, and came to know whether

if they should come to Memphis, he would be permitted to recover them. The marshal's reply was substantially this:—

That they did not allow runaway negroes

to come into their lines under any circumstances, and that they had no power over them outside their lines. The slaveholder went away satisfied that his negroes were in no danger.

On Saturday afternoon, a white man,

dressed in the uniform of a Federal marine,

was observed walking down Main street, with two negro women on his arms. The novel sight did not fail to attract attention and elicited comment. He was followed down

Main to Broad street, and thence to Vance street, by citizens and police officers; who finally overtook him near St. Agnes Academy, on Vance street. The man and one of his negro companions was arrested. He was taken to the Provost Marshal's office for punishment, and the negro woman to the station house. While proceeding to the marshal's office a crowd of excited men and boys followed, some crying out, "Hang him," "Shoot him, and such like. Just before getting to the marshal's office the man begged that he might be taken before our city tribunal or shot in his track, rather than taken where he would be dealt with by his officials. He represented himself as a native of Massachusetts, and belonging to the Union army.

When our troops, under Gen. Kelly, were retreating from Romney, he was

These are taken in the scintillant part of a second, and the rapping of water, the moving of vehicles, or the jingle of a army does not in the slightest degree affect the taking of these views. They are sold for $3 per dozen.

We have also on hand manufacturing the largest assortment of STEREOGRAPHIC ALBUMS, and PHOTOGRAPHIC MATERIALS, in the United States, and abroad, in the world.

Catalogues, containing Lists of all Pictures, Views, Stereoscopes, &c., will be sent free by mail, on receipt of stamp.

PROF. L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color, without dyeing, and preventing Hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, keeping it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURVY AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convinces the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use.

It cleanses the head and skin, and removes all disease.

It gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy and flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thinning, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the system invigorated by attack of disease.

It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all.

So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted to ascertain perfect accordance with law of nature, and hence its unequalled properties.

It is perfectly safe, and can be used by all.

It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure.

As a sure preventive and cure of CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, INDIGESTION, DYSPNEA, LOSS OF APPETITE, FAINTNESS, NERVOUS IRITABILITY, NEURALGIA, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, MELANCHOLY, HYPOCHONDRIA, DRINKING, INSOMNIA, LANUGINE, IDIOTS, &c., &c.

ALL THAT CLASS OF CASES SO FEARFUL, LY FATAL, CALLED FEMALE WEAKNESSES AND HEMORRHAGE.

THERE IS NOTHING EQUAL.

Also, Liver, Distempers or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints. Diseases of the Kidneys, and all general derangement of the Human Organ.

It will not only cure the debility following at CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked.

TAVERNER'S should have a bottle with them, as it will infallibly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon change of climate and water.

As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

LADIES not accustomed to much out door exercise should always use it.

MOTHERS should use it, for it is a perfect Remedy.

It relieves a Cough instantly.

They clear the Throat.

They give strength and volume to the voice.

They impart a delicious aroma to the breath.

They are most delightful to the taste.

They are most simple herbs and cannot have any one.

I advise everyone who has a Cough or a Hoarse Voice or a Bad Breath, or any difficulty of the Throat, to get a package of my Throat Confections; they will relieve you instantly, and you will agree with me that "they go right to the spot."

You will find them very useful and pleasant while traveling or attending public meetings for settling your Cough or allying your throat.

If you try one package, I am safe in saying that you will ever afterwards consider them indispensable. You will find them at the Druggists and dealers in Medicines.
